

Fun is in the Forecast!!

Contributed by Noel Perkin
Thursday, 15 May 2008

Take off that raincoat and leave your umbrellas behind! The forecast for this weekend is nice and sunny! Sounds like a forecast for fun to me.

The Bluegrass & BBQ Festival is going on at Silver Dollar City, plus this time of year the honeysuckle is blooming all over the park. Make sure you stop and take a whiff as you cross the Truss Bridge by Brown's Candy Factory, the honeysuckle there is thick and smells heavenly!

At Celebration City there's a new ride I've been wanting to try. I've heard the new 5-story water ride-ROARING FALLS is a blast, so I can't wait to make a big splash!

I think we'll catch some of the Bluegrass & BBQ Festival at Silver Dollar City and then head over to Celebration City in the late afternoon. How about you? Are you ready to put some fun in to your forecast? Then maybe I'll see you there!