Q: Dena asks, "I am a mom who has been going to SDC and all of its properties for years. I would love to be on the panel. Are new panel members added?"

A: I checked with the MomsBlog administrators and the panel is actually full at this time. However, please feel free to participate in other aspects of the MomsBlog. You can post comments to the blog entries and questions or upload photos and video from your trips to the park. While there is a designated panel of Moms who contribute regularly, we encourage all Moms to join in on the dialogue and share your unique Silver Dollar City experiences with us.
